Welcome to AIDS 2008 Programme Activities

A Message from the Working Group Chairs and Co-chairs

Welcome to this year's Global Village: an important opportunity for the community to interact and engage with science, government, and leadership from around the world to advance our collective response to the epidemic.

The Programme Activities outlined in this book were developed by volunteers in Mexico and around the world with input from the AIDS 2008 Programme Activities Team. We would like to express our appreciation for the time and energy that went into creating such a dynamic and inclusive programme.

AIDS 2008 is an unparalleled opportunity to expand public awareness of HIV/AIDS, share knowledge and learn from others in the field and chart a course for a stronger, more effective global response to the pandemic.

AIDS 2008 will be the most important gathering in the fight against the spread of HIV/AIDS. Get involved. Become part of the global movement against HIV/AIDS.

iii. Youth Programme

The AIDS 2008 Youth Programme is an opportunity to empower young people, advocate for current and critical issues affecting youth worldwide, and further pinpoint current strategies for effective change. In addition, the programme is working to focus on HIV-positive young people through targeted outreach to HIV-positive youth serving organizations. This year, there is a new component for young scientists participating in the conference which will not only help to engage activists, but youth from many different fields.

Youth activities include the youth pre conference, youth opening and reception, outreach activities, cultural activities, sessions and workshops. There is also a website dedicated to youth activities related to the conference.

Young people have been involved in the planning of AIDS 2008 at all levels and will be helping in the implementation as well. The International AIDS Conference is an example of how youth participation can contribute importantly to the success of a big strategy. However, in many instances youth continue to be left out of interventions affecting their lives. It is necessary to engage, encourage, and acknowledge youth as assets in the response against the HIV epidemic. We need 'Universal Action Now' from and for young people.

The Youth Programme has an important partnership with the Mexico Youth Force, a coalition of youth-driven and youth-supported NGOs including among others: Advocates for Youth, Ave de Mexico, Coalición de Jóvenes por la Salud Sexual, Global Youth Coalition on HIV/AIDS, Taking IT Global, UNFPA, The World AIDS Campaign and the Youth Coalition on Sexual and Reproductive Rights. This is the fourth time the Youth Force has greatly contributed to the success of the Youth Programme.

AIDS 2008 Youth Website

Delegates can find the latest information about activities for the AIDS 2008 Youth Programme and Mexico Youth Force at www.youthaids2008.org. Using this interactive website youth delegates can network and connect, learn from those who have attended past International AIDS conferences, receive an orientation to AIDS 2008, get help navigating conferences, learn tips on how to prepare for their presentations, find practical information about visiting Mexico, and more. The website was built with the support of Taking IT Global.

Youth Pocketbook Guide to Navigating International AIDS Conferences

All young delegates can get their own copy of the Youth Pocketbook Guide at the Youth Pavilion. The pocketbook was created to support young people's efforts at the conference to raise and influence important issues that affect their lives and the lives of peers and communities. The pocketbook provides information on how to get the most of your time at AIDS 2008 and future International AIDS Conferences. This includes background information, advocacy and networking strategies, young people's experiences, travel information and much more.

Pick up a copy in the Youth Pavilion within the Global Village, or download a copy at www.youthaids2008.org

Youth Pre-Conference

July 31-August 2, Centro Cultural Universitario Tlatelolco, UNAM

The youth pre-conference will consist of informative and skills-building workshops around HIV issues, ranging from scientific knowledge to effective political advocacy. Participants will also gain skills in research methodology, monitoring and evaluation, media and communications, as well as updated information on prevention strategies, harm reduction, and details on treatment. Participants will learn how to advocate to policymakers on issues relevant to young people and how to deliver youth advocacy messages at the conference and beyond. The pre-conference is especially important for first-time conference goers to meet other youth delegates and to strengthen skills to make the most out of the conference itself.

Young participants at previous pre-conferences remarked that the pre-conference was one of the most useful and informative aspects of the entire conference experience. Youth participants gained skills that were useful not only during the main conference, but also when they returned to their homes to carry on their HIV/AIDS work.

Youth Opening Reception Saturday 2 August

The Youth Opening is a high-profile, youth-oriented reception that aims to celebrate the achievements made in strengthening the participation of young people throughout the conference. The youth reception will draw attention to the role that young people play in pushing back HIV and AIDS and achieving universal access by 2010. It will also highlight how important it is for youth to be substantively involved in the planning, implementation and evaluation of HIV and AIDS programmes and policies.

Youth Pavilion

The Youth Pavilion supports meaningful participation and purposeful dialogue of youth throughout the conference. As the access point for young people at AIDS 2008, the Youth Pavilion in the Global Village will be a space to host meetings and forums, highlight and showcase youth achievements, facilitate networking opportunities, engage adults in dialogue, and carry on the momentum from the youth pre-conference.

Full details on activities to be held in the Youth Pavilion can be found in the Global Village schedule or visit the website at www.youthaids2008.org

Youth Contests

This year there are three different contests for youth participants. These include:

- "Speak Out on AIDS" video contest
- "Agentes de Cambio" for Latin American participants
- "AIDS in Focus" photography contest.

The winners will be announced at the conference (date to be confirmed). Note that the application deadline for all contests was June 2008.

Youth-Adult Commitments Desk

As with AIDS 2006 the Youth Pavilion will again house this initiative to ensure accountability for promises made to young people. Young delegates will work with adult delegates to generate real commitments that can be implemented once they are back in their countries. The Youth Force organizations will follow up to find out if the commitments were kept and developed. Adults will be able to write their commitments and sign them at the desk.

This year's desk will also serve to show the most prominent commitments made during the XVI International AIDS Conference in Toronto.

Youth Conference Programming

Throughout the conference the youth programme will have:

- Youth presenters in plenaries and other sessions.
- Emphasis on youth-adult partnerships and how to strengthen them.
- Discussion forums in the Youth Pavilion on young women and girls; indigenous youth; young gay and bi-sexual men; safer sex, harm reduction and drug use; effective advocacy capacity building; and others to be proposed.
- Communication and outreach strategies to highlight youth related issues in the media and among delegates.

Youth Partnership Initiative (YPI)

The Youth Partnership Initiative will seek to pair youth leaders with established leaders of a wide range of constituencies, in order for youth to develop practical leadership skills experientially, as well as for the constituencies to learn from youth leaders and develop partnerships with youth as a constituency. The YPI will establish a two-way learning process to promote mutual understanding, facilitate networking, and enable a transfer of knowledge and skills between the participants. Leaders of media, people living with HIV and AIDS, business, women, non-governmental organizations, youth, activists, faith and labour will take part in this initiative. In addition, leaders from academia, parliamentarians, harm reduction and MSM will be engaged.

Youth Rapporteur Team

As a part of the co-organizers commitment to support meaningful youth participation and representation of young people's voices, AIDS 2008 will be the second time a rapporteur team is dedicated entirely to recording the proceedings and ground breaking presentations at the conference from a youth perspective. The rapporteurs' work will be shared throughout the week with global media and delegates through many different ways and at the Rapporteur Session.

The purpose of this panel is three-pronged: to share recent work documenting violations such as coercive sterilization of HIV-positive women in Chile and denial of reproductive health care services to HIV-positive women in Kenya; to discuss a range of accountability strategies to address these violations from documenting abuses to national and international litigation; and to illustrate how these strategies can be effectively implemented through creative partnering that draws on different expertise and resources. Identifying and documenting violations at the intersection of HIV and reproductive rights is a crucial first step and vital to effective advocacy.

TUGS01 Civil Society: Sharing Knowledge and Producing Valid Data to Fight AIDS Debate

Venue: GVSR1

Time: Tuesday 5 August, 11:00-12:00

Discussion about the fact that, since the beginning of the AIDS epidemic, in addition to theoretically and politically mirroring the implemented policies, civil society has made great efforts to share the knowledge that it produces and, to that end, it faces the challenge of having the information and contents that it puts forward recognized as being valid. The creating and perfecting of public policies on AIDS has become a critical knot in most countries showing up the great disparity there is between the speed that is necessary to respond to the pandemic and the implementation of actions planned by governments.

TUGS08 PMTCT vs Full ART for Pregnant Women. Which is the Most Effective and Responsible Approach to Saving Lives and Preventing Further Transmission? Debate

Venue: GVSR2

Time: Tuesday 5 August, 17:45-18:45

Debate session on HIV/AIDS Vaccine Research. Should it continue or be abandoned? Should the billions of vaccine dollars be reallocated to prevention, testing and treatment efforts worldwide? Is it responsible to continue to fund futile efforts when millions of people need ART treatment now, when prevention efforts have failed to stop the spread of the virus, when there is a desperate need for innovative, HIV testing/screening initiatives worldwide targeted at high risk populations? Or is it unwise to give up on the hope that there is a way to stop the HIV virus through a viable vaccine?

Stigma, denial and apathy are three reinforcing elements that are keeping HIV in India in the dark. It is stigma that prevents people from openly discussing the facts around HIV, and keeps them from participating in prevention or treatment programs. The denial and apathy about AIDS, even amongst India's leaders, creates the false sense that India's morality will protect it from AIDS. Together, they lead to discrimination against HIV-affected individuals in hospitals, against children in schools, and even ostracization and suicide among families. Worst of all, stigma, denial, and apathy fuel the belief that HIV is not our disease, but a disease of the other. To increase public discourse about the Indian epidemic, both in India and abroad, Avahan is putting together a collection of specially-commissioned pieces by high profile Indians living abroad, vernacular writers in India, and emerging new Indian talent.

But a minimum level of support could help them in achieving their target as well as contributing to the cause related to the community itself. The main character is a male to female transgender person who decides to leave her house but comes across to a social worker who takes her in a transgender drop-in-centre. There she realizes her community, and talents which inspire her to start a new journey with positive attitude towards life.

La historia comienza cuando un típico barrio de la ciudad se ve alterado por la presencia de una persona en situación de calle que los vecinos consideran ingrata. La situación se desborda cuando un grupo de vecino hace justicia por mano propia. La historia continúa con los encuentros y desencuentros de una pareja, enmarcada en la desinformación y los prejuicios de los personajes del barrio en relación al VIH. Un tema trascendente y actual que ofrece un mensaje fresco y esperanzador sobre cómo vivir mejor, lejos del miedo al otro.

Time: Thursday 7 August, 15:00-16:30

Tal Como Somos goes to the heart of what is like to be Latino and gay, bisexual, and transgender in the times of AIDS. This documentary follows the lives of six Latino gay and bisexual men and a transgender woman capturing their shared realities: the love and separation of their families, the support of their friends, the struggle with their religion, the alienation created by race and immigration, and their courage to confront adversity, such as HIV/AIDS. Tal Como Somos is an invaluable educational tool on stigmatization of gender nonconformity, homophobia, and HIV/AIDS.
